MINOR CORRECTIONS

In claim 1, line 7, "a batten" should be replaced with --said batten-- since the subsequently recited mechanisms have already been set forth in the claim.

DRAWINGS

This application has been filed with informal drawings which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required when the application is allowed. Applicant's attention is directed to the "NOTICE OF DRAFTSPERSON'S PATENT DRAWING REVIEW" (PTO Form 948) which is enclosed.

Furthermore, reference numeral 42 appears twice in Figure 5 referring to two different elements.

REJECTIONS OF CLAIMS BASED ON PRIOR ART

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. ' 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Art Unit: 3721

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. ' 102(b) as being anticipated by the patent to Thomas (4,403,900) or Young (GB 2,248,819). Each of these patents shows a batten feeding system comprising of a batten dispensing system (16 and 2, respectively), a first transport section (24 and 30) to move battens into the dispensing system, a second transport section to receive battens from the dispensing system (22 and 55) and control means (37/84 and page 4, lines 7-12) to control one of these mechanisms.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. ' 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. ' 103(a) as being unpatentable over the patent to Thomas (4,403,900) or Young (GB 2,248,819). Each of these patents discloses the method of depositing a batten onto a transport section (22 and 55, respectively) by a dispensing mechanism (16 and 2) and the controlling of the transport section to transport the batten into a work-station (14 and 12). The use of banding devices in load handling is well known in the art and the use of such a device in the work stations of Thomas or Young would have been obvious to one skilled in the art.

ADDITIONAL REFERENCES CITED

The following prior art is made of record but has not been relied upon in the rejection of claims. However, the prior art is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The patents to Dykstra, Reynaud and Smets show batten dispensing systems.

The patent to Odenthal shows a batten handling system with a plurality of mechanism controlled by a central controller.
